Canejo wonders

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The head of the Romulus City Council wants to test public opinion to determine if he should ask his colleagues to continue Romulus' battle with the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) over Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo said he is concerned whether the public would be receptive to a continued fight over the construction of a new northeast-southwest runway through the airport since talk of concern has slowed down after the city's Nov. 4 general election.

"The council faces a Dec. 30 deadline for filing an appeal on U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia J. Kennedy's ruling which allows the airport to continue work on the runway," Canejo added. "I'm wondering if our citizens want to continue the battle, and further, whether officials of surrounding communities which may be hurt by construction of the runway are interested in fighting in their own behalf."

'I'm wondering if our citizens want to continue the battle...'

"It's important to me to know which way to go."

Canejo said interested citizens should call the mayor's office in the city to voice their concern.

"If there's enough public opinion in favor of continuing, then the council could call a special meeting to continue the suit," Canejo continued.

The mayor pro tem said he already has discussed the possibility of the appeal with Mayor James C. Stewart and learned that the latter was against a further court fight.

"I'm not too much in favor of more litigation myself, but there is reason to examine the situation," Canejo said.

Los Angeles Attorney Jerrold

Fadem handled the city's original case before Judge Kennedy, winning a better than 6-month delay in construction at the airport.

However, just prior to the city election, Judge Kennedy ruled that construction of the runway could be continued, since the WCRC and the Federal Aviation Administration had complied with federal environmental impact assessment requirements enough to have the temporary injunction against construction lifted.

Whether the suit against construction continued, Canejo said he definitely is in favor of negotiating with the WCRC for compensation of losses the city already has suffered because of the expansion of the facility.

"The city has lost water and sewer lines, taxable property and some roads to expansion," Canejo added.

"In addition, the schools have suffered the diminishing value of their buildings near the airport."

"There's definitely reason to continue to press for damages."

However, a similar fight for damage to homeowners who have suffered a devaluation of their homes because of federal mortgaging regulations concerning sound levels allowable in homes would have to be handled outside the city government.

"Fighting for individual damages is strictly up to the individual homeowners involved," Canejo said. "It's difficult for the city to get involved in that portion of the suit."

Fadem is awaiting word from homeowners in Romulus to determine whether there is enough sentiment in the community to support a class action suit on behalf of the homeowners suffering property value losses because of the airport.

District to wrestle with state aid cuts

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
The Roman Staff

Romulus' school administrator is wrestling with compensating for state aid cuts which came in at $25,000 more than they had anticipated earlier in the year.

Romulus School Supt. James Garfield said the district has received word that its share of Gov. William G. Milliken's executive order for state aid cuts will come to $129,500, or 1.7 percent of the district's total budget.

"It puts us that much farther behind," said Garfield after learning of the cuts. "We'll have to make more adjustments in the budget to compensate for the loss."

Garfield added that the school officials will be wrestling with an order of priority in making cuts, in an effort to insure that district education programs remain untouched.

"We'll look first toward capital expenditures, then transportation and custodial services and finally at personnel," Garfield said. "Certain capital expenditures, such as parts needed to keep existing school equipment operational, will be made, but new equipment purchases and routine supply purchases will be cut to the bone to insure that there is no unnecessary spending."

In the area of transportation and custodial services, Garfield indicated that the district may consider a freeze on replacing short term absences in the ranks of bus drivers and custodians as a cost saving measure.

After those measures are taken, the district will have to look toward personnel to determine where more money can be saved, he added.

The district already has taken some steps toward shaving the budget loss.

Garfield's former position as assistant superintendent for personnel hasn't been filled yet, and the district has hired no new business manager, even though the position was funded in the most recent school budget.

"We'll just have to get along without the two people who could fill those positions in the administration," Garfield said.

The superintendent gave a promise of sorts that no programs will be eliminated from the school curriculum.

"Although it will be impossible to make some cuts without affecting some programs, the most essential programs will remain untouched," Garfield said.

One way some of the personnel may be saved is a ban on field trips and conferences which could be implemented in the district.

"I doubt we'll cut the personnel from the instructional program," Garfield added.

City may assume court construction

The Romulus City Council may be considering the possibility of assuming the entire cost of constructing a new 34th District Court building to assure that a new facility is located in Romulus — possibly as a third building in the city's civic center.

Mayor Pro Tem Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo following a meeting at which Mayor James C. Stewart brought the council up to date on the plans of five communities, including Romulus, to build a new court building, said the consensus of the council was that the valuable facility should not be moved from Romulus.

"A district court building in Romulus would bring an economic return to the community," Canejo added. "It's good for business and may help promote development around the building itself."

"The feeling was that the council try to have the building constructed within the city."

Canejo said the council is considering resurrecting 2-year old plans for a facility near the Romulus City Hall and Romulus Public Library.

The plans, costing $50,000, were drawn up in 1972-73, but were scrapped when Mayor Terry L. Troutt was elected to office at the end of 1973 in favor of a less costly alternative.

Plans for that alternative, involving financing the court construction with pro-rated contributions from Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Huron, Sumpster and Van Buren, were at the point of gelling when Troutt was defeated by Stewart.

"The council will study whether the old plans were feasible, and if it proves true, then the city may proceed on its own," Canejo said.

Officials in the other four communities involved in court construction planning during the past year have voiced disapproval of any plan which would run up the cost of a new facility.

Tentative plans had been made to finance the court with pro-rated contributions from each community based on its net worth, and to build the court on land which hopefully would be donated, or sold at low cost, to the 34th District by a public agency.

The Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority is waiting for a formal request from the 34th District communities before it considers a motion to sell land near Haggerty Road and Huron River Drive in Van Buren Township to the district.

The other officials have indicated they do not favor building a court near the Romulus City Hall because such construction would require matching architecture which is too costly to be financed from township and small community budgets.

"The feeling I get is if the other communities do not agree to the location in the civic center, then the city will go ahead and finance the court construction itself," Canejo said. "The operating costs still would be shared under the plan, but the construction would be the city's business then."

'It's good for business...'

Attendance areas will be recarved

The Romulus Board of Education is expected to begin recarving the boundaries of the Romulus Community School District in January to prepare for the opening of two new elementary schools and the new North Junior High School.

Romulus School Supt. James Garfield said the board will begin examining the date necessary to determine which children in the district will go either to the Barth Elementary School on Barth Road east of Hannan Road, or the Hill Creek Elementary School on Harrison Road south of Eureka Road.

"Right now the students from the Harrison Elementary School area are being bused to the Mt. Pleasant School, and students from Merriman Elementary School are being bused to the Wick Road Elementary School," Garfield added. "The board will have to examine the plans to determine how much of that transportation can be eliminated by the construction of the two new elementary schools."

In addition, all students in Romulus' junior high school curriculum attend the Romulus South Junior High School on Olive Street in Romulus.

Students will be shifted from that school to the new facility on Wick Road west of Wayne Road adjacent to the new Wick Road Elementary School.

While parents in the district will be interested in where their children will be going to school, the board has a second interest - how to finance the operations of the new facilities.

"It will take more money in terms of personnel and equipment to operate three new schools," Garfield said. "The board will have a special interest in dividing a means to finance the openings."

Particularly weighing on the board will be the recent state aid cutbacks which have trimmed the district's budget by a total of 2.3 percent since August.

If the cuts continue, or become worse, the district faces the prospect of either asking for more money for operations, or failing to open some of the new buildings.

"We may have to think in terms of millage," Garfield said. "There has to be a way to raise funds for financing the school operations once the construction is completed."

Construction of the new buildings was approved by the voters more than two years ago, before anyone has knowledge of how bad the current economic problems facing communities would be.

At that time, the board was sure that the buildings could be opened without increasing costs directly to taxpayers.

But that was before the state began trimming back on the budget, making two cuts since August, and indicating a third cut may come after the first of the year.

Mayor believes downtown is important business core

There's at least one believer in the importance of downtown Belleville as the area's business core.

And it's the person anyone would expect — Mayor Justin Emerson.

After a series of informal meetings with businessmen in the downtown area, and a political campaign which took him throughout the city, Emerson believes Belleville is the place to go for bargains.

"I've had many people tell me that they haven't found better buys, or better quality, than in the downtown area," Emerson said. "I think the word needs to be spread."

With the competition from outside businesses, including malls in nearby townships of Van Buren, Ypsilanti and Canton, the mayor believes the word should be spread.

"Belleville people should support their business community, not only by purchasing goods there, but also by promoting the stores that are in town. The Belleville City Council intends to take a more active interest in the business community, too.

The council has received word that the "big" break for Belleville, a development on the 1-acre urban renewal site in the city, should be announced Jan. 19 at a City Council meeting.

The National Bank of Detroit is expected to present plans for a new facility.

But with the new facility, the old bank on Fourth Street will become vacant, and plans will have to be made to fill that.

In addition, the council is expressing a concern in the future of the Belvil Hospital building.

The structure should be on the open market soon, after a federal district court judge placed the Belvil Hospital into receivership and ordered major creditors to meet with a representative of the hospital to work out payment of debts.

The building most likely will be sold, opening another place for business development.

And finally, the council has decided to lease space in the Belleville City Hall as an office.

Though the space will compete with existing office buildings, leasing it will give the city a better insight into the needs and workings of the business community — something which may help the council improve the community's business image.

To air requests

Smith serves on panel

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith of Belleville has been named to a special subcommittee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to help sort out money requests to be presented to the legislative body.

According to another county commissioner, John Barr of Dearborn Heights, there will be some important changes in the way the board decides how to spend county funds.

"In the past, we have had to look at each new proposal or department request on a piece-meal basis," said Barr, who will play a key role in all spending decisions to come before the board. "Our decisions primarily were based on the need and merit of particular proposals as they came before the board."

"We found ourselves in December saying, yes, that is a worthwhile project and we'll fund it — without the proper mechanism to know what was coming down the pike in July."

With a critically tight county budget and ever-increasing demands for funding, the Board of Commissioners voted to establish a 9-member special subcommittee with the key purpose of sorting out the varied requests and recommending to the board what holds top priority and should be funded.

In addition, it will be charged with the responsibility of reporting "an overview of all county needs with an attempt to forecast long-range necessities," Barr said.

Barr was appointed to chair the subcommittee by Board Chairman Roscoe L. Bobo.

"We need to back off and take a birds-eye view of the entire financial picture rather than attempting to analyze county priorities while standing on the ground level," Barr added. He also cited another important difference in county fiscal policy.

"If someone comes before the subcommittee with a specific request, they also will have to recommend a funding source," he said. "For example, if a department head is out to promote a new recreation program, he is going to have to tell us it's more important than that new garage we've got budgeted."

"Then, we'll decide what we think is best for the county and recommend that decision to the full board."

Griffin 'loses' Senate funding battle

After a long, well conducted parliamentary battle Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) appeared on the surface to have lost his attempt to prevent the Senate from hamstringing President Ford's policy in Angola.

By a vote of 54 - 22 the Senate accepted an amendment to an omnibus defense appropriations bill preventing the CIA from providing money and weapons support for the anti-

Communist factions battling against a Russian-supported power play in that former Portuguese colony. That amendment was offered by Sen. John V. Tunney (D-Calif.)

Tunney, the Senate agreed, made his point that so far as Angola is concerned the President could not authorize convert actions capable of leading to deeper involvement without first obtaining congressional approval.

But Tunney's victory was more shadow than substance. In a fire-eating speech Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, insisted it is impossible to make foreign policy by means of a rider on a giant appropriations bill.

Advancing a similar argument, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the issue was far from settled by such a slap-dash procedure. Congress, he predicted, will have to take up the issue again after the next session convenes in January.

The second thoughts Griffin planted in the minds of his colleagues might produce a different result then.

Repeatedly the Michigan senator stressed that he did not want the United States to blunder down the road to war as happened in Vietnam. He was against the commitment of any American Troops, as indeed is President Ford.

But it is wrong headed for the Senate to limit the President's options in situations short of that, Griffin said.

This gives the rest of the world the wrong signal about America's willingness to stand up to Russian bullying, he added.

In the end it turned out the Tunney amendment only blocked the spending of $9 million in contingency funds during the next few weeks, McClellan said.

When it was all over the whole thing seemed more like a paper blizzard rather than an important turning point in the way the United States is governed.

We applaud Griffin's determination to reverse this unfortunate verdict.

Teacher thanks his class

To the editor: I would like to express my thanks to as many students of the class of 1955 at Romulus High School as possible. Would you publish this letter so that I can reach the greatest number of these former students who live all over the Wayne and Romulus area.

It was some 20 years ago that I accompanied a group of about 78 high school students to New York City on the occasion of a long-awaited senior trip. One week later, after our return to Romulus, letters poured in from travel agencies, the Hotel New Yorker, tour guide companies and other places in New York, complimenting the school for the fine behavior of its students in New York.

That was the Romulus High School graduating class of 1955. I was one of their teachers.

Last summer, this very same class had a 20-year reunion. I was invited, but due to unresolvable circumstances, I could not attend. I really wanted to be there because I loved those "kids."

Summer has passed and I still kept regretting that fact that I would not be able to attend the reunion. Then one day a letter arrived from Joanne Zerona, in name of the class of 1955. They were sending me a gift via Joanne. (Joanne sacrificed a whole Sunday in driving in driving to Midland to deliver the gift. Thanks, Joanne). The gift, a beautiful weather station, has an inscription on brass. It says: "Thanks for the memories — Class of '55." I wish to return the sentiments to a wonderful group of students ... Thanks for the gift and the chance to reminisce about the most enjoyable days of my teaching career.

Legal opinion from outside no conflict--Lewkowicz

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

The Romulus City Treasurer believes that going outside the city for legal advice in a hassle with Mayor James C. Stewart is not a conflict of interest, even though the attorney he engaged is the same one Stewart dismissed and replaced with his own choice.

Lewkowicz said former City Attorney William S. Munger is a good choice for offering an opinion on the duties of the city treasurer as defined by the City Charter because of Munger's past city background.

"Munger was city attorney for two years and has a good working background in the city's charter," Lewkowicz added.

However, the request to Munger could brew into a further conflict for the city administrators, since Stewart has asked the new attorney, Robert Reese, to rule on the same matter.

Lewkowicz has asked Munger to examine several sections of the charter and to detail the meaning of the sections as they apply to the treasurer's duties.

Included in the list of items Lewkowicz wants researched are sections dealing with the duties of the mayor, the department of treasurer, disbursement of funds and the means to draw warrants.

Lewkowicz could give no date for when he expected a reply to his request.

The difficulty between Lewkowicz and Stewart stems from the removal of the Finance Department from the treasurer's jurisdiction — a move Stewart said he made to insure he had the administrative help necessary to draw up a city budget.

However, under the Terry L. Troutt administration, Lewkowicz was over the Finance Department.

Also involved in the dispute is an interpretation of the charter by Lewkowicz that he alone is responsible for signing checks in the city. In the past, one of three persons, the treasurer, mayor or mayor pro tem, had the power.

Lewkowicz said he took the action to remove the tax signing power from Stewart because of litigation surrounding Stewart's election as mayor.

"I think he should wait to assume the powers until at least the appeals deadline for the matter has passed," Lewkowicz said.

He is referring to a ruling by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Sullivan that absentee ballots voided in the Nov. 4 general election may be in good enough shape to be counted, but that it was an appeals court decision.

Terry L. Troutt had contested Stewart's 13-vote victory in the circuit court. He has not indicated whether he'll appeal Judge Sullivan's decision awarding the mayor's office to Stewart.

TOP DEBATERS — Two members of the Belleville High School Debate team, Mark Villeneuve and Pat Dillan, show off their style in helping the team amass four tournament championships and more than 50 trophies. The team is following in the footsteps of its predecessor, last year's unit which captured the Bicentennial Championship Debate Series.

Debate team still winner

When the Michigan High School Forensics Association began its celebration of the nation's Bicentennial last year by sponsoring a Bicentennial Championship Debate Series in which 25,000 students participated, the Belleville Debate Team captured first place and an all expense paid trip to colonial Williamsburg, Va.

This year's team has been no less successful, having captured four tournament championships and more than 50 trophies at the halfway point in the season.

Director of Debate and Forensics, David White, said this year's team as one of the finest in recent memory. He added that the junior varsity team's 16-0 league record promises success for years to come.

White attributed the team's success to the high quality of education offered throughout the Van Buren Public School System.

Centennial farm Modern life threatens existence

By KAREN PESTA
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

"There are only a few oldtimers left in Canton," sighed Freeman Hasselbach as he reminisced about an earlier time when the township still was rural in character.

Hasselbach and his wife, Helen, are one of the three farmers in the state who own a centennial farm, which still is operated under the original name.

Once 80 acres and now dwindled to 40, the farm has survived 123 years of farming by the Hasselbach family.

Hasselbach had to give up his high school education to learn the old techniques of farming from his father, Fred, and he remembers a time 35 years ago when the family still farmed with horses.

"The horses died on the farm, they were like part of the family," Hasselbach added.

It was his great-grandfather Christopher Hasselbach, who built his home 30 miles from Detroit on the 80-acre farm.

Now, the 69-year-old Hasselbach fears the encroachment of industry and laments the increases in his property taxes.

"This area is zoned light industrial and I pay $70 per acre in taxes," said Hasselbach.

"You just don't know

whats ahead of you," his wife added.

"As they look into the bleak future of their farm, the Hasselbachs remember with sentimental tenderness a time when people from Detroit would drive into the country to buy their raw milk at 15 cents a gallon.

"Once we had 27 head of dairy cattle, now we only have 10 head," Hasselbach added. Costly dairy machines and regulations forced them out of the dairy farming. Like many other farmers, they couldn't afford to implement the new methods.

But the Hasselbachs still farm part of their acreage.

"We put out hay, oats, wheat and sweet corn. The grandchildren help a lot during the summer," Hasselbach said.

"Mrs. Hasselbach, once a farmers daughter, raised her five children in a country kitchen.

"I still smoke ham, bacon and sausage in the smoke house," she added. "Instead of canning every thing, I've learned to freeze most of our produce. It's more economical."

The smoke house beside the barn is a hollowed out sycamore tree, and the Hasselbachs still argue about the date of its construction.

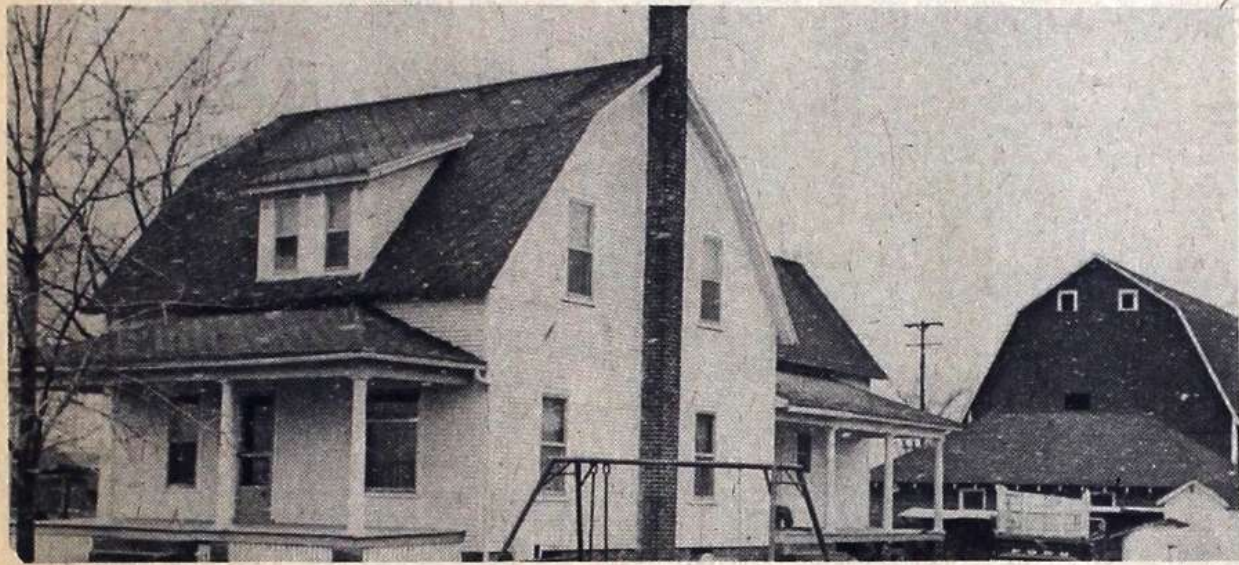

Home-grown produce still is sold on the stand in front of the white frame farm house, on the corner of Hannan and Van Born roads. Mrs. Hasselbach sells eggs from her kitchen door, which she has collected from their 175-leghorn chickens.

Retailing their produce is the only way the Hasselbachs have been able to survive the economic hardships.

"All of our children have gotten better jobs. Taxation is driving us out," Hasselbach said.

"There was a time when a father would pass on the farm to his sons," he continued. "Now days a farm couldn't support a man's sons."

The farm has weathered the hard times and reaped the rewards of the labor. Now its future is uncertain. It is a time of sadness and memories for the Hasselbachs.

After

The white frame farm house on the corner of Hannan and Van Born Roads in Wayne is one of the three centennial farms in Michigan, still operated under the original name. The farm has been managed by the Hasselbach family for 123 years. Freeman and Helen Hasselbach remember a simpler time, before their 123-year-old farm was threatened by encroaching industry and rising taxes. The Hasselbach farm, once 80 acres, now has dwindled to 40.

THANKS, SANTA — One young Romulus youngster had a happy thanks for Santa Claus after the Jolly Old Elf gave him a bag full of goodies during the Romulus Jaycees annual Christmas party. The Jaycees have cited community involvement as the key to the party's "tremendous" success this year.

Community involvement cited

Jaycees Yule party a success

The Romulus Jaycees recently completed one of their most rewarding annual projects, with their annual children's Christmas party, chaired by club secretary Ron Dick and assisted by fellow Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary.

The event was held at the Romulus Progressive Hall and was a fun filled day for all, a Jaycee spokesman said.

The children in attendance saw 2 W.C. Fields comedies, took part in three party games — Simon Sez, Pass the Hat, and a relay balloon game with game prizes awarded to the winners — and then were treated to ice cream, pop and cookies.

It all led up to the "long awaited" visit from the Jolly Old Elf who presented to each and every child a big bag full of goodies, with a kiss and a hug in exchange, the spokesman added.

The party would not have been possible had it not been for the students of the Romulus High School, the spokesman said. In an earlier project, chaired by Fred Coleman, a high school instructor, "A Walk for Romulus" was held, with approximately 200 students canvassing the community for pledges for all or a portion of 15 miles they walked.

Through the students efforts and the many pledges from the community, enough money was raised to make the party one of the Jaycees most successful and rewarding to date, the spokesman said. The sight of the enlightenment of each child's face as they opened their gifts was well worth the long arduous hours which were put in to make this project the success it was, the spokesman added.

Club offers class

The Wayne County Sportsman's Club is sponsoring another of its Hunter safety classes Saturday and Sunday in Huron Township.

Youngsters aged 12-16 are required to take classes before they are allowed to apply for a hunting license.

Registration runs from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday and classes will run from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Costs of the class are $2 at registration plus $2 to be mailed to Lansing when the student takes a class in hunter safety.

Information on the program can be obtained by contacting Sherman Lambly either by writing him at 23145 Merriman Road, New Boston 48164, or by calling him at 782-2895.

Youngsters taking the class are not required to have a gun on hand for the lessons.

December water bill reflects higher rates

Belleville's December water bills, the first of the new higher rates for sewage disposal, have been mailed out.

According to James White, city finance director, residents who pay their bills quarterly will be charged a higher 94 cents per 1,000 gallon sewage rate for one-third of the usage they had during the past quarter, and the lower 66 cents per 1,000 gallon rate for the usage they had during the remaining portion of the quarter.

The Belleville City Council in late November approved the higher rate to compensate for increased sewage disposal costs charged the city by the Wayne County Sewage Disposal system.

However, the higher county rate did not go into effect until after two months of the city's quarterly building period had passed.

Lower volume customer — generally living in single family homes and operating small business — are charged for water usage on a quarterly basis each year, meaning that charges for their water accounts are added up every three months.

According to White, there are approximately 30 other users who are charged water bills each month.

Those customers are the high volume water users.

The customers who are being charged on a monthly basis will pay the 94-cent per 1,000 gallon figure on their bills and will not receive the reduction in costs given the quarterly users.

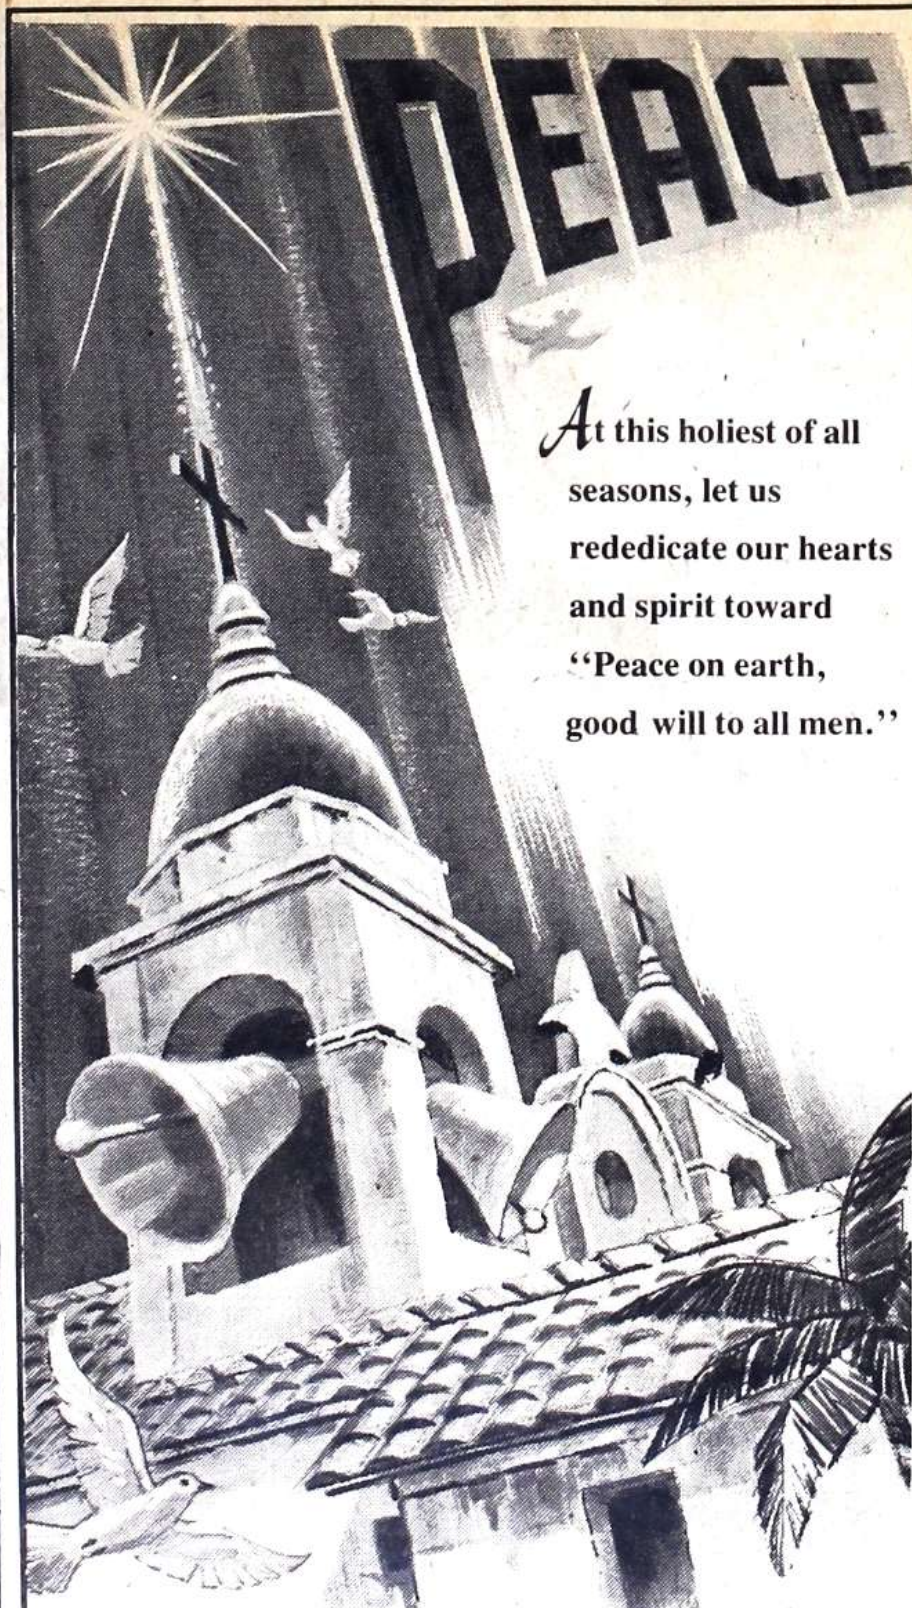

According to White, the city was charged a 128 percent increase in sewage treatment by the county, a raise of from $125 for treating 1 million gallons of city sewage to $285 for treating the same amount.

The rate increase to individual users is only 42 percent, according to White.

The reason the city's rates did not keep pace with the county increase is because city customers not only are charged for the cost of treatment, but also the cost of maintenance.

Maintenance costs have not gone up substantially in the city system to warrant a further increase.

At this holiest of all seasons, let us rededicate our hearts and spirit toward "Peace on earth, good will to all men."

Department's problems not 'incompetence'

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

If there are problems with the Sumpter Township Police Department, it results from the relative inexperience of police officers and not "incompetence" as reported in a metropolitan newspaper.

Lt. Robert J. Bellaire, commanding officer of the Michigan State Police post in Flat Rock, informed Sumpter Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi that he had conducted an investigation into the Sumpter Police Department after receiving complaints from township residents about poor response time to trouble calls in the past.

"I did not conduct a formal investigation, but did contact many citizens in Sumpter Township to determine if an investigation was warranted," Lt. Bellaire wrote to Parraghi.

"The vast majority of citizens complaints have to do with the Sumpter Township Police Department. 'Almost all of these have to do with delayed response time which is due to manpower shortages, and with their police practices in general, in the handling of criminal complaints. Lt. Bellaire went on to explain that many citizens, including the mother of two children who lost pet goats and rabbits in a cruel vandalism prank, believed that the inefficiency in the department is of a criminal nature.

However, the commanding officer said: "Inefficiency on the part of a police department is not a matter of criminal negligence, and cannot be prosecuted in the courts. Lt. Bellaire praised Acting Police Chief Jerry Cox.

"The Sumpter department, as well as many others, has a degree of inefficiency due to inexperience on the part of many of the newer officers," the State Police officer wrote. "Acting Chief Cox is aware of this and is doing everything possible to correct the situation."

"Police officials in the area, as well as myself, have the utmost confidence in Acting Chief Cox. I do feel he would be better able to administer the operations of the Sumpter Department, if he were promoted to chief of police."

of the Sumpter Department, if he were promoted to chief of police."

January Calendar of Travel Events is a prime example, offering something for everyone to get into, according to the Travel Bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

One of the main centers of attraction and action will be on the snowmobile tracks and trails, leading off with the Moose Jaw Safari, Jan. 10, in Harbor Springs. On the same day, spectators and participants will be gathering at the County Fair Grounds at Cheboygan for the Cheboygan Bicentennial 200. This is the 200-mile endurance kickoff race of the Michigan International Snowmobile Association. On Jan. 10-11, the Motor State Snowmobile Classic will be run at Imlay City. Then comes the first facet in Michigan's Triple Crown of Snowmobile Races, the Thunder Bay 250, Jan. 17, at Alpena. The race is restricted to the 35 fastest qualifiers. Following on Jan. 24, is the TC-250 at Traverse City. This race is run on a specially constructed, three-quarter mile banked course for 250 miles, demanding the best from both drivers and machines. The third star in the "crown" falls on Feb. 7 with the running of the I-500 at Sault Ste. Marie, and all three races are sanctioned by the Michigan International Snowmobile Association.

Ice skating events and meets also are prominent throughout the month, and JANUARY'S TOMFOOLERY — The only city in Michigan which is destroyed by each spring thaw and reborn each January to host one of the nation's outstanding "fun for all" events, is dedicated "to promote hilarity, bigger lies, tomfoolery and goodwill," and is part of the fun in store for residents throughout the state.

even if you're not a skater, there are thrills in the watching. First on the skating schedule is the Chemical City Skating Classic, Jan. 10-11 at Midland. Next comes the Central Michigan Speed Skating Championships at Bay City, Jan. 17; the Diamond Derby Speed Skating Meet at Saginaw, Jan. 18; Midwest Speed Skating Championships at Farwell Field in Detroit, Jan. 24-25; and the Alpine Open Speed Skating Meet at Baldwin, Jan. 31-Feb. 1. "Snob rope," "point pair," "wheel dogs," "all right" or a loud, clear "hike" are all familiar terms to a musher. To the layman, they are all part of the jargon of a sled dog team driver. Sled dog racing is a popular wintertime sport in Michigan for spectators and participants alike, and one that you might like to try. The first race of the month is scheduled for Jan. 3-4 at Baumann and Kroner Roads, north of Richmond. Next come Sled Dog Races at Ranch Rudolf, near Traverse City, Jan. 10-11 and the Michigan Double Header Sled Dog Races, Jan. 31-Feb. 1, at Golden Arrow Ranch in Oscoda. Family fun, entertainment, great fishing, prizes and an experience you'll remember all the way into summer pretty well describes Tip-Up Town U.S.A., Jan. 17-18, at Houghton Lake. It's one of Michigan's annual winter events that almost has become a tradition. Other festivals promising something for the whole family are the Winter Carnival, Jan. 23-24, at Central Lake, the Sno-In Winter Carnival, Jan. 30-Feb. 1, Gaylord, and the Winter Festival — "on the ice" of Saginaw Bay — at Pinconning. For a complete listing of January events and a free copy of the Michigan Winter Sports Guide, write the Travel Bureau.

Music Hall marks 1976

Now that December finally is here, it's only a matter of weeks and days until the United States celebrate 200 years as a nation.

And as residents near the 10,400-week, or 73,000-day, marks required to witness such an event, the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts has arranged a Bicentennial countdown, presenting the musical, "1776", for the last six days leading up to that event.

The play will open at 8:30 p.m. Friday, the 72,994th day of the Bicentennial countdown, and be presented at 2 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 29 through Dec. 31, the 72,999th day of the United States existence.

They'll all be there as the legendary Founding Fathers, including agitating John Adams (and Abigail), the astute Dr. Franklin, and the gifted scribe and violinist, Thomas Jefferson, and his wife, Martha.

The principal characters of that drama in Philadelphia 200 years ago, are not all that different than those around us today, a hall spokesman said. One is alcoholic. Another is dying of cancer. One calls another "weasel." Another obviously is a bigot. And there's a lecher present, along with some puppets and some power politicians. Many are stubborn. Most are afraid. Some aren't very bright, and many are selfish. Some are dedicated. But before the show is over they're all Americans.

And when the curtain rings down in the Music Hall production of "1776", it'll be almost exactly

1,751,199 hours ago that it all began, or, one hour to go before Jan. 1, 1976.

Christmas

What Christmas is really all about . . .

Sometimes in the rush of holiday shopping and activities, we lose sight of the real meaning of Christmas. Of course, we know it's more than Santa and gifts and parties but that's easy to forget amid the festivities and preparations. Now more than ever, we need to stop and think about what Christmas is really all about.

It's a celebration — a celebration of the birth of Jesus and the birth of hope for mankind. That hope is born anew in our hearts each Christmas, as we contemplate the Christ Child. For He is indeed the Prince of Peace, bringing peace to every heart that will admit Him. May the joy of Christmas — the real Christmas — be yours!

Belleville whips Edsel Ford

By TOM MOORADIAN
Eagle Sports Editor

While Belleville cagers were busy throttling Edsel Ford 85-72 Friday night, Westland John Glenn's Gordie Davis was at work establishing the Tigers as the 1975 Holiday Basketball Tournament favorite.

Glenn will host the 2-day tourney beginning Friday at 6:30 p.m. In the first round Wayne Memorial will take on Cherry Hill, while the nightcap features Belleville and Glenn (8 p.m.).

"Off of what we have been able to see and read," said Davis, "I would say that Belleville has the edge in this year's competition. The championship will be decided 8 p.m. Saturday between the survivors of the first round. The losers will be pitted in a 6:30 p.m. consolation game.

Belleville, troubled with its offense, appeared to have solved it against Edsel as the Tigers unleashed an 85-point attack to post their second win in three Suburban 8

Conference starts. Belleville carries a 3-1 record into Friday night's game.

Belleville took an 18-14 edge over Edsel, turned it to a 36-31 halftime advantage and increased the margin by 16 at one time in the third period en route to its second conference victory.

"Edsel tried to run with us," said Neimi, "and we were quicker than they were. We also did an outstanding job on the boards."

The Tigers outrebounded their hosts 59-28 with Narvell Turner getting 17 of those, James Thompson 15 and Dennis Easley had 13.

Belleville also made 36 of 87 shots from the floor and had four players in double figures. Easley's 28 points stood up as the game high. He had one more than Edsel's Kevin Byrnes.

Turner chipped in with 18 while Cornell Grantham and Thompson each had 11.

Romulus eyes crown

Romulus Coach Jesse Meriweather will learn a little more about his cagers Friday when the Eagles play their first game in the Detroit Northwestern Holiday Basketball Tournament.

"We wanted to get a look at some excellent teams and we will," said Meriweather whose team will carry a 4-2 won-lost record into the tournament. "We'll know a lot more about ourselves after this weekend."

Romulus drew the host, Northwestern, in the opening round which is set for 3 p.m. The first game, between Henry Ford and Northern, will be contested at 1 p.m.

The championship will be decided the following day at 3 p.m.

Meanwhile, Romulus picked up its fourth victory of the season by whipping Lapeer East 76-45 last Friday. Though their cage opponents didn't pose any problems, the weather did. The Eagles returned from the long trip in a snow storm, making it back home at 1 a.m.

Romulus put the game out of reach in the second period when the Eagles widened a 13-6 first period margin to an insurmountable 36-15 halftime advantage.

Romulus went on to outscore their hosts 22-14 in the third period and 18-16 in the finale.

Michael Morrison led a balanced Romulus scoring attack as he drilled in 10 field goals and two free throws for a game high 22 points. Teammate Allen Lewis sank 14 while Billy Anderson, Melvin Stewart and Wendell Buckley each had 10.

Franklin dunked by Belleville High

Though they took only five of the 11 first pulls, undefeated Belleville had too much depth for Livonia Franklin's swimmers.

Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers splashed Franklin 50-33 in a non-league dual meet.

Belleville's 20-yard medley relay team, paced by Ron Curtis, Paul Wanshon, Farley Parsons and Harold Gable, got the Tigers off to a winning start as they churned a 1:50.9.

Then, double winner Mark Stoelton turned in a 1:57.5 in winning the 200-yard freestyle and a 52.95 for the 100-yard freestyle. Teammate Mike Angolia pulled in with a 1:02.5 in taking the 100-yard butterfly while Paul Wanshon had a 1:09.0 for the first place in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Tigers return to the pool on Jan. 6 when they travel to Livonia Churchill for a 7 p.m. meet.

Meet results: Belleville 50, Livonia Franklin 33.

AUTO FACTS

by Jr. Kosin

Here are some good traffic hints: ease back in trouble spots. As you approach an intersection, the crest of a hill, or even a gentle curve, let up on the gas momentarily. Experts say that while this will not slow you down much, it will substantially reduce the time it takes to hit the brakes if you have to stop unexpectedly. Always, when driving, trust nothing but your own eyes. Hidden drives, traffic-control devices and intersections are everywhere. Always be as alert as possible.

The entire staff at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, wish all our friends and neighbors a Christmas filled with Peace and Joy! May you and your families enjoy the merriest Holiday ever! ... KOSIN'S specializes in all kinds of parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars. We also have a complete machine shop service for such jobs as turning brake drums, valve work, and rebuilding engines. (When you need help to fix your car, bring it to your local service station or garage mechanic for a professional job. He has the expertise you need to do the job properly.) KOSIN'S is open daily until 8 P.M., Saturdays until 5 P.M. Call us at 563-3894.

AUTO FACT: When passing check both mirrors, and make sure no other vehicle is about to pass you.

Residents find savings in taxes

When Western Wayne County taxpayers receive their federal income tax packages in the mail in the next few weeks, they may find completing their return more tolerable than expected. The reason? The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 features new tax-saving features for almost every taxpayer, and most of the savings can come on the returns that will be filed for 1975.

There is a new low income allowance of $1,900 for married persons filing a joint return, $1,600 for single persons, and $950 for married people filing separately.

Many residents also may benefit from an increase in the standard deduction, which has been raised to 16 percent of adjusted gross income, up to a maximum of $2,600 for those filing joint returns, $1,300 for married persons filing separately, and $2,300 for single persons.

The higher standard deduction will save some people for having to itemize deductions. However, to be sure that they're cutting their taxes as much as possible, taxpayers should figure their taxes based both on the standard deduction and on itemizing deductions.

Liberalized allowances and deductions aren't the only new items of interest in the new tax law. There are a number of others such as different types of tax credits, which is a deduction directly from the tax instead of income.

For instance, to provide economic assistance to low income employees with families, workers who maintain a household and have dependent children may receive a tax credit of 10 percent of their earnings up to a maximum of $400 — interest and dividends excluded. The earned income tax credit decreases as income rises above $4,000. Workers who qualify must file an income tax return to receive the credit, even if they didn't earn enough money to be required to file. These who have income of $8,000 or more do not qualify for an earned income tax credit.

A second credit is available to all taxpayers. Called the personal exemption $30 tax credit, it is given for each person to which the taxpayer is entitled to claim an exemption.

A third tax credit is only for certain home buyers. Individuals who buy a new home as their principal residence — the place where they are going to live most of the time — are eligible for the credit. The home can be condominium, townhouse, apartment in a cooperative, a detached house, a mobile home, a houseboat or even a yacht. However, it cannot be something like a summer cottage.

The credit is 5 percent of the purchaser's adjusted basis in the new home, with a maximum credit of $2,000 — $1,000 for married taxpayers filing separate returns.

Generally, the home also must meet four qualifications:

—Construction must have begun before March 26, 1975;

—The taxpayer must have gone to settlement on the house and occupied it as a principal residence after March 12, 1975, and before Jan. 1, 1977;

—Unless the home buyer is building the residence himself or herself, or having it custom built, the buyer must have a binding contract for the purchase of the residence before Jan. 1, 1976;

—Unless the buyer is building the house or having it custom built, the buyer must attach to his or her federal income tax return a certification by the seller that the purchase price is the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale since Feb. 28, 1975.

Although the credit is limited to new homes, homeowners who buy a "used" principal residence, or one that doesn't qualify for the credit because of the time restrictions, may be able to benefit from another new tax law.

For a number of years homeowners could postpone paying taxes on some of all of any profit they made on the sale of their principal residence — if they purchased another home within a specified period of time. The new law added six months to the time limit between the sale of the old home and the purchase of the new place.

As a result, individuals buying a house that's ready for occupancy now must purchase and live in the house within 18 months of the sale of the old homestead.

Those who are building or rebuilding a house now must begin work on the residence either before they sell their old home, or within 18 months of the sale of home. And they must occupy and use their latest home within two years of the sale of their previous one.

There also are new rules for taxpayers employing domestic help. The Work Incentive (WIN) Program, designed to encourage employment of welfare recipients, has been extended to include wages paid to certain persons on the welfare rolls, hired after March 29, 1975, for household services performed before July 1, 1976. The credit equals 20 percent of the cash wages paid to qualifying welfare recipients hired by the employer, to a maximum credit of $1,000 for each nonbusiness employee.

Income tax filers also will find two changes when it comes to contributions to candidates for public office. The deduction has been increased to $100 ($200 on a joint return). Alternatively, taxpayers can choose to claim a tax credit. The maximum credit has been increased to $25 ($50 on a joint return).

Two final new features call for caution by residents.

The new tax law permits qualified taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes to $35,000 to claim the maximum deduction for child and dependent care expenses, but it applies to returns filed for 1976 earnings.

For 1975, the deduction still drops when adjusted gross income exceeds $18,000. Before claiming the child and dependent care deduction for 1975, taxpayers should read carefully the instructions provided in their tax forms.

Students visit center patients

Third grade students at the Romulus Elementary School will get into the real Christmas spirit when they visit the Apple Tree Lane Convalescent Center to deliver gifts and sing Christmas carols for residents of the facility. The visit is another in a series of Christmas projects undertaken by the classes of Henrietta Sims, a teacher for 15 years in the Romulus Community School District.

"It teaches the children the true meaning of giving during Christmas time," Mrs. Sims said. "In addition, it offers the children an insight into career education by exposing them to the convalescent home."

Coaches pick players

Following a third-place showing in formal competition its first year, awards were presented recently to members of the Belleville South Junior High School girl's Varsity basketball team by coach Edward Bonczak.

Alicia Watson was named the most valuable player, and Kim Beckley as rookie of the year.

Recognized on the Junior Varsity squad — league champions — were Vickie Forest as the most valuable player, Theresa McDonald as the most improved player and Sherry Koss as the rookie of the year.

Additional recognition went to Shawn Sparks, an unsung hero, and Bridget Johnson, who received the highest academic grade point average.

Two other coaches also recognized the efforts of several members of the eighth grade football team at the school.

Most outstanding offensive lineman this season was James Prouty, while Doug Burke was most outstanding offensive back, Scott Straight and Fred Windom as most outstanding defensive players and Bob LeMasters and Larry Santure as the most improved players.

The coaches of the football team were Richard Leidheiser and Richard Kiessel.

HOLIDAY-TIME SPIRIT — Students at Romulus' Beverly Elementary School took time out from their class schedules to participate in the school's annual Christmas Party. Featured as part of the celebration was the decoration of a Christmas tree with handmade decorations made in class by the students. Featured as part of the program was an American Indian Dance by the students. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

THEY ALL WANT SANTA — Because Santa Claus is such a popular, loving person, everyone (including those from other planets) demand his presence at the holiday season. That theme was used in the operetta, "Santa and the Spacemen," recently presented by the fourth, fifth and sixth graders of West Willow Elementary School under the direction of vocal music teacher, Sue Stahl. Dion Kennedy (from left), Raymond Brochette, Ann Boyd and Billy Martin were part of the cast.

Three grades perform

Operetta stars West Willow voices

A Christmas operetta, "Santa and the Spacemen", was presented Dec. 8 at the Belleville High School auditorium. The fourth, fifth and sixth grade children from West Willow Elementary School were included in the production which was under the direction of Sue Stahl, vocal music teacher. In the operetta, several school children see Santa Claus (played by Raymond Brochette) kidnapped by a man from Mars named "Kob" (played by Brian Bennett). Representatives from other planets of the universe then come to earth and tell the children that THEY want Santa Claus on Christmas. Since it is impossible for everyone to have Santa, a universal meeting is held and a decision is made that everyone should share the jolly old man. Art, stage and prop work were done by Linda Hanson, art teacher at West Willow. Jeanette Carroll, kindergarten teacher, rehearsed the children in their lines during her lunch hour. A 10-foot high living room set was built by Jon Levos and Garry Boyd. Costumes were the work of Mary Henry, Sally Boyd, Robin Paige and Tillie Van Sickle.

Sumpter School heard on U-M radio

Hopefully, enough area residents were informed ahead of time so that they were able to tune into the University of Michigan WUOM and VWGR on Dec.

19 either at 11 a.m. or 7 p.m. That's when Sharon Guyton's third and fourth graders from Sumpter Elementary School made their radio debut, reading Dr. Seuss' "Thidwick, the Big-Hearted Moose." The reading was the culmination of a 3-week long project that took the students to every nook, cranny and quiet place they could find at Sumpter School. With the help of pre-teacher, Beth Elper, the group recorded snippets of their reading every spare moment of the school day.

With editing and arrangements for the broadcast complete, Mrs. Guyton and her group traveled to Ann Arbor for their premiere. Taking part in the program were Randal Ammon, Bruce Burnett, Fred Collier, William Harrell, Ricky Hatfield, Jean Hurd, Brian Innes and Lori Jones.

Still others were Gerald Knapp, Carrie Kolbish, John Krushlin, Rodney Ochs, Gloria Parsons, Diana Seppala, Joseph Sigmund, Mary Sykes, Craig Thomas, Kevin Thomson and Tammy Townsend.

Completing the list were David Varga, Charles Watson, Paul Woolum, Monica Bradford, Julie Langer, James Richey, Michele Roman, Tim Strawbridge, Alan Tocco and Andrea Wilcox.

MEXICAN MOOD — Sixth grade students in Stella Bialas' class at Edgemont Elementary School have been busy during the pre-holiday season making gifts for Mott Childrens Hospital in Ann Arbor. Using a Mexican theme, the group fashioned pinatas in various styles and shapes which will decorate many of the rooms and then be broken according to tradition on Christmas Day. Taking part in the unit were (from left) Lisa Kuzdal, Laura Steukert, Teresa Renton, Kathy Colwell, Andra Whittico and Raymond Florian.

Romulus Senior Citizens share traditional dinner

Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 met Dec. 16 for its traditional Christmas dinner which was a catered affair at the Romulus VFW Hall. Gifts were exchanged and raffle winners announced.

Elaine McGinness won the 3-wheel bicycle; Don Treder the afghan and Pat Witherow the fancy Christmas wreath.

Celeste Fisher's son, Orlando Patterson, and a long-time family friend, Brenda Rusan, sang a number of hymns and carols for the group. Doug Brown of the Doug Brown Music Co. of Romulus not only furnished the organ for the day but played selections most of the afternoon.

Others entertaining were Ernie Block who played both the violin and saxophone and Charlie Kitzmiller who played the violin.

Guests for the day were the Romulus city officials. The new club co-ordinator Joan Holbrook was assisted by Gail Youtsey, Jo Lynn De Buyscher, Joyce Morgan and Donna Lee Zavitz.

The next regular business meeting, which will include election of officers, will be held Jan. 13.

Edgemont excels in label contest

Edgemont Elementary School recently concluded its very successful "Campbell's Labels for Education" collection campaign. The school collected over 12,000 labels which will be used to acquire audio-visual equipment. Parents and those who made the program a success are thanked for their contributions.

James Gear's sixth graders won top honors for collecting the most labels. For their effort, each student will receive a toboggan cap inscribed with "m-m-m good." They also had the privilege of marching in Belleville's Christmas parade Dec. 13.

Quotes worth quoting--

"One test of happiness — or ecstasy, or contentment — is the absolute disappearance of the time sense. In complete absorption in labor or in contemplation we are unaware whether our moments are hours or days. We are immortal — strange paradox — for a moment!"

David Grayson said it

Glamourize turkey with garnishes

With turkeys planned as the focal point for so many holiday dinners, here are a few suggestions as how to "dress up" that old bird for the special occasion.

Nomatter what form it is served in, the garnish glamorizes it and makes it into a gourmet treat.

1. Start with a fringe of parsley or a ruffle of salad greens around the bird.

2. Cut a lemon in wedges and slice an orange.

Alternately place wedges and slices around the turkey on top of fresh greens.

3. Cook and drain mixed dried fruit. Circle turkey with light and dark fruit and drop in a few red cherries for extra color.

4. Group quarter slices of orange in petal fashion around halves of crab apples, one for each serving.

5. Cut pineapple slices once, so you can spread slices on a diagonal line around crab apples, one for each serving. Picks hold slices vertical.

6. Use whole canned or pickled apricots in place of crab apples.

7. Circle the turkey with halves of canned, drained peaches with a cooked prune in the center of each peach half.

8. Place canned, drained halves of peaches, pears or apricots or a combination of all three around the turkey and put a spoonful of cranberry or red current jelly or orange marmalade in the center of each fruit half.

Elegant entertaining

A holiday brunch is a grand time to entertain elegantly. Broiled rib eye steaks extend hospitality graciously.

The night before, place six rib eye steaks, cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick, in glass dish. Add 1 teaspoon dried sweet basil and 1 small clove minced garlic to 1/4 cup red wine; pour over steaks, cover and marinate in refrigerator overnight, turning occasionally.

In the morning place marinated steaks on rack of broiler pan so that the top of meat is 2 to 3 inches from heat. Broil 4 to 6 minutes, sprinkle with salt and pepper and turn. Continue broiling another 5 minutes for rare, 8 to 10 minutes for medium.

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

A mellotron is an advanced synthesizer. It contains tapes of any number of recorded sounds, so that when the player touches a certain button he can reproduce the chord he is playing in any given sound. English groups use the mellotron a lot. The Stones and the Beatles have them, and the Led Zeppelin. A group called the Moody Blues have two, which they cut down and put in one organ body. This enables them to produce some far-out sounds of the violin, including the sound of the violin, when there is no violin on stage.

Rainbow Girls hold caroling party

After an evening of caroling on Dec. 13, the Rainbow Girls of the Belleville Assembly met at the home of Mrs. Elda Bohl on Robson Road for a Christmas party. Twenty girls were present along with Mother Advisor, Mrs.

Rose Ann Welt and several members of the Rainbow board.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of Columbia Avenue on Dec. 14 were their grandson

Gerald Dann and his fiancée of Ann Arbor.

On Dec. 16 the Tyler Street Church group met at the church for their annual Christmas dinner. Sixteen people were in attendance to enjoy the dinner, gift exchange and reminiscing.

Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church Street entertained the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mativie of Wyandotte, this past Sunday. The foursome attended church then drove to Win Schuler's Restaurant for dinner. Later in the afternoon they visited relatives and friends in Clinton, Tecumseh and Milan.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greashaber of Columbia Avenue were recently in Flat Rock for a Christmas program at the Methodist Church. Mrs. McAtee's granddaughters were in the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch of Church Street recently had week-end guests from Ansonia, Conn. — their grandson Michael, his wife Irene and son Geoffrey. Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy of Troy also were with the family for a day.

A Christmas luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth on Dec. 16 was enjoyed by 18 members of the Van Buren Garden Club.

Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Liberty Street, recently spent a week-end in Stockton, Ill. visiting their son Jack Graham and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller of Second Street celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary on Dec. 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley of Sumpter Road are being visited by the latter's sister, Mrs. Eilene Lindemam of Highland Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen McArdle, formerly of Huron River Drive, are now residing in Southfield.

This past week Mrs. Muriel Bearance of Liberty Street received a telephone call from Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Berean of Leesburg, Fla., former residents of Belleville, wishing her and their many friends here 'happy holidays'. Mrs. Berean will be remembered as the former Minnie Gleason.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street recently attended a Christmas observance of the Ann Arbor Commandry K.T. No. 13 at the Calvary Methodist Church in Ann Arbor.

AID "CARE" CRUSADE — The Evening Circle of the First United Methodist Church pointed up the efforts of CARE's 1975 Christmas Food Crusade at their Dec. 10 meeting. In lieu of their usual calorie-loaded pie, cake, cookies and candies, the group experienced a sparse meal of plain broth with a little rice and plain unsliced bread — each member serving herself. Hostesses Helen White (left) and Betty Savage (right) show their barren table which depicts the empty plate and hunger of the world. The difference in the cost of fancy and simple refreshments will be donated to CARE.

Varied classes offered at 'Y'

Come in early the week of Jan. 5 to 17 to pre-register and plan your time to keep warm and busy during chilling winter months with something new, challenging and self improving. Pick from old favorites or one of these newly offered classes. From "Cooking Organically" and "Vegetarian" to "Slim and Trim" and "Practical Art of Self Defence," plus another self-improvement class called "Experiential Workshop" to an old-new together game of "Backgammon" there's much to choose from and several classes that are scheduled to allow you to take more than one at a time.

"Indoor Gardening" for Tuesday mornings is taught at the YWCA building, 26279 Michigan Ave. by Angie Rutledge or Wednesday mornings at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia. Both teachers will help you discover the joy of growing your own indoor fruits, vegetables, tropical gardens, dish gardens or terrariums, plus how to take care of indoor plants, where to keep them, how to nurture them, cuttings, etc.

Personal awareness "Experiential Workshop" will be guided Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. Fern Selling who will offer techniques and tools to help you be the person you want to be by learning how your body and mind work and what you can do to help free up more energy to accomplish planned goals for self and family.

Another new to us, but an old favorite of the Middle East will be "Backgammon" taught by Lebannanese-born May Huxley on Tuesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. Mrs.

Huxley will instruct and supervise two styles currently played — European, Franjehand the Middle Eastern, Hahbouseh, it often is considered the Game of Kings because of its fun, challenge, thinking and concentrating qualities. For an evening of inexpensive fun come in early to pre-register for classes starting Tuesday, Jan. 20.

Mrs. St. John guest of honor

A surprise birthday party for Rose St. John of Wilnot Road, Belleville, was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Art Gorney, Mr. and Mrs. James McCloskey and Linda Kalasz. Held at the Gorney home on Fenster Street, Belleville, festivities included a special cake in rainbow colors made and decorated by Patti McCloskey and Miss Kalasz. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moss and family of Romulus; Dottie Weigand, Rose Anne Goncey and daughter, Emil Kalasz and family, Jamey and Shannon McCloskey, Mark and Dennis St. John and Fred Gorney, all of Belleville.

April altar date planned by pair

The engagement and spring wedding plans of their daughter, Kathy Patterson, and Edmund Wanshon Jr. are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patterson of 18033 Savage Road, Belleville.

The young couple plan to be married April 3, 1976 at St. Ursula's Catholic Church, Ypsilanti.

The bride-elect, who will graduate in January from Belleville High School, is employed at Bonanza in Lakewood Shopping Center, Belleville.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wanshon Sr. of 1824 Heather Ridge, Ypsilanti, is a 1974 alumnus of Belleville High School. He currently is serving with the U.S. Army at Aschafenburg, Germany.
